

RecruitMe — Overview, How to Use It & Costs

What it is

RecruitMe finds and ranks candidates for your open roles. You paste in a job description, and the app pulls matching people from three places — our own talent pool (~16,000 profiles), LinkedIn, and SEEK — then uses AI to score each person against the role and hand you a ranked shortlist with a short, plain-English reason for every candidate. It keeps the rest organised too: candidate pipelines, notes, CVs, client companies, and placements — all in one place, with a login for each team member.

How to use it

1. Create a job. Click New Job and paste the job description. The app automatically reads it into must-haves, nice-to-haves, seniority, location, and salary.
2. Find candidates. Open the job and hit Search. It instantly shows matches from our talent pool, and pulls fresh results from LinkedIn and SEEK on demand.
3. Score them. Click Score all — every candidate gets a 0–100 match score with a written rationale, ranked best-first. (Scoring is on-demand so it only costs money when you ask for it.)
4. Shortlist & manage. Move people through the pipeline (Fetches → Scored → Shortlist → Contacted → Hired), add notes, upload CVs, and tag candidates.
5. Pulse — catch people when they're looking. Set a "watch" (e.g. "Java" AND "Spring"; Wellington). RecruitMe re-checks SEEK on a schedule and pings you the moment someone matching updates their profile — an early signal they're open to a move.
6. Clients & placements. Track client companies, submit candidates to them, and log placements with fees and follow-up reminders.

Everything runs in the browser — nothing to install.

Costs

Spent so far (the app has been live ~2 months):

Item	Cost
Mini-PC (one-off — already purchased)	$150
AI usage (Claude) to date	~$26
Hosting (~2 months)	~$50
Total so far	~$230 (most of it the one-off mini-PC)

Ongoing, per month:

Item	Cost / month
Hosting (app + database)	$25
AI (Claude) — scoring & parsing, hard-capped at $5/day	~$15–40
Mini-PC electricity	~$3–6
Total	~$45–75 / month

This is on top of the SEEK and LinkedIn subscriptions we already pay for. The AI line is the only one that varies — it scales with how much scoring is done and is capped so it can't run away.
